PAYS ANOTHER OUT OF JAIL AND STAYS THERE HIMSELF

Man Arrested for Vagrancy Pays Fine of Another Behind Bars While He Remains—Is Later Released By Police Chief to Join Family.

Roy Hamilton, of Augusta, was arrested this morning on a charge of loitering and shortly after he had been placed in jail with fourteen dollars on his person, Purcell Owens, who was arrested several days ago for train riding and who had a balance of twelve dollars due on his fine, announced that he had the money to pay his fine and wanted to be released.

It developed that Owens had talked Hamilton into lending him twelve of his fourteen dollars to pay his fine with. Hamilton and Owens had never seen each other and yet within a few minutes Owens had talked Hamilton into letting him have twelve dollars to pay himself out of jail while Hamilton remained. Owens promised Hamilton, however, that he would get him a lawyer and he sent W. H. Cole down to defend Hamilton.

It was learned this afternoon that members of Hamilton's family were ill in Augusta and Chief Ort released him with the promise that he would go at once to his family. Hamilton had but two dollars when brought out of jail while Owens went free on his money. It just cost Hamilton twelve dollars to eat dinner at the county jail today.

CHILD BITTEN BY RATS IN GRAVE ALLEY HOME

Colored Child Is Attacked By Sewer Rats and Arm, Face and Fingers Are Badly Bitten Saturday.

The four months old child of Mary Jackson, colored, was attacked by rats and badly bitten Saturday while the mother was away from home at work in the kitchen of a white family. The mother returning found her child suffering intense pain from the injuries inflicted by the hungry sewer rats.

This mother lives in one of the Graves alley houses and this community has for years been infested by large sewer rats although so far as is known this is the first time the rats have ever attacked a human. A large manhole in the center of this alley is probably the foulest place in the whole of the city of Maysville and homes in this territory must of necessity be quite unsanitary.

Dr. W. C. Patton, who attended the child, is of the opinion that the injuries will not prove so serious as was at first thought but the occurrence is certainly one of the most repulsive ever brought to the attention of the people of Maysville and should call for a cleaning up of this section.

TRUCE IN WAR OF MINERS IN W. VA. AND KY. HILLS

Peace Is Restored In Mountain Mining District.—State Troopers Are on the Job.

Williamson, W. Va., May 15.—Peace hopes in Mingo county's mine war were revived today when the echo of shots died away in the West Virginia and Kentucky Hills.

Authorities, however, feared new attacks on mining towns in the Tug River Valley might occur at any time. The industrial war between striking coal miners and company employees dragged more yesterday than at any time since the engagement began Thursday. Stray shots were fired along the twelve-mile battle line occasionally, and a 30-minute skirmish was staged near Merrimac, but there was relative peace until dawn today.

The casualty list of six dead and an indefinite number wounded was not changed by early reports here today, although unconfirmed rumors of additional victims were circulated.

Arrival in Pike county, Ky., of two companies of guardsmen quelled the snipers. Detachments were sent to Alburt and McCarr. Another company was stationed near Merrimac. Mountaineers from Moorehead and an automatic rifle squad are included in the detail.

Truce in the Alburt, Blackberry City and McCarr sections was completed Saturday night.

SUN SPOTS ARE CAUSE OF LIGHTS SEEN IN NORTH

Theory That Sun Spots Put Northern Lights to Work Is at Last Accepted By Astronomers.

Washington, May 16.— Interruption of telegraphic communication by electrical influences, if due to the presence of spots on the sun, as set forth in the Brashers theory, will pass away within forty-eight hours in the belief of officials at the Naval Observatory here.

The present spot or group of spots on the face of the sun, estimated by Naval Observatory officials at 94,000 miles in length and 21,000 in latitude, was nearest the earth last night and today through rotation of the sun was moving away from the solar meridian. Naval Observatory officials said today that, leaving out of consideration the decreasing effect on the spots on electrical currents on the earth, through the usual breaking up of the spots, the regular rotation of the sun on its axis would within a few days carry the spots so far from the earth as to make their influence negligible.

The theory that the Aurora Borealis, or Northern Lights which send "earth currents" through telegraphic wires, interrupting communication, resulted from sun spots, was advanced by Dr. John A. Brashers, the late Pittsburgh astronomer. The theory has never been definitely accepted. Naval Observatory officials said, but the fact that spots on the sun usually are accompanied by electrical disturbances has resulted in almost general acceptance of the theory.

OUR POLICY:

To support such measures as are unquestionably for the good of Mason County as an entire community, rather than such propositions as are in favor of the individual interest, or of one section as against another. And likewise to earnestly and consistently oppose all things that are not for the good of the county as a whole.

THE OLD, OLD QUESTION.

Not only are most persons egotistical, but most peoples are self-conceited. This is true of time and ages and eras, also—the people of this day are egotistic as were the people of the ages which went before in the generations now departed. And the funny thing about it is that we today believe that we have the same virtues to a more prominent degree and suffer from the effects of the same vices in a more poignant sense than did the people of any other age.

For example, sometimes there is a hint that all this chat and chatter, the discussing and "cussing" of fashion, is a practice distinctive to this age. It isn't. Folks of olden times talked about the scandalous manner of woman's dress—and believed that their age was the most radical of them all.

Dante, who passed away six centuries ago, took up his heavy quill and unseathingly excoriated, in a roundabout manner, the improprieties, the shamelessness, the rank immodesties of the women of his time. Once he said of the women of Florence:

 A time to come

Stands full within my view, to which this hour

Shall not be counted of an ancient date,

When from the pulpit shall be loudly warned

The unblushing dames of Florence, lest they bare

Unkerchief'd bosoms to the common gaze.

It is probably true, whether a matter of historic record or not, it doesn't matter a fragment of lace, that the women of Florence went along and smiled after reading what the poet wrote, serenely proceeded along the fashion-path of their own choosing even after they were warned from the pulpit, and were none the less beautiful or womanly for it—those who were womanly and modest to begin with.

And this age? Well, fashions and styles notoriously go from one extreme to the other. Wonder what Dante would suggest to the modern pulpit after surveying the "women of Florence" from the ground up these modern, loose-leaf days.

DRESS UNIFORMS RESTORED.

Secretary Denby's order directing that the navy dress uniform, which has not been in use for a number of years, shall again be worn on certain occasions, is interesting as an indication that we are rapidly leaving war conditions behind us. The dress uniform is composed of frock coat, full dress trousers, cocked hat, dress sword, sword belt and epaulets, and was, of course, out of place when fighting was in order. Whether it should be worn in time of peace is a question which has caused heated debate both in the United States and abroad. Brilliant red uniforms are again being used in the British army, which wore khaki exclusively during the war. When these flamboyant costumes were attacked in the house of commons they were defended on the ground that they were necessary as a means of attracting men to the army.

Probably no such motive underlies the restoration of the dress uniform in our navy. But men are not altogether indifferent to showy clothing. Even civilians take pleasure in the touch of color that their neckties enable them to display. And the pomp and ceremony of military and naval life fosters in soldiers and sailors an unusual fondness for dress uniforms.

THE COBB IDEA.

One thing is pretty sure—the editor of the New York "World" would not run his private business the way he would run government business. He complains because the War Department has published a list of men who were called under the draft but did not respond or were not excused. The "World" declares that the Department deems them guilty until proven innocent. Now let us suppose that the "World" had a time clock in its office which each employee was required to punch as he entered and departed. If certain employees failed to punch the clock, would the "World" go on paying them on the assumption that they worked but forgot to punch? Would it not, rather, consider them absent from work unless they proved that they were present and worked, but merely forgot to punch? Would the "World" consider itself guilty of slandering such men if it reported them absent on the days when they failed to punch the time recorder? But there is no use asking such questions of the "World." It is such a confirmed partisan that it cannot uphold a Republican administration even in an effort to run down slackers.

DELAYED CURTAILMENT.

It is a safe assertion that no one will be more pleased than the railroad managers when conditions will permit the reduction of freight and passenger rates. But they are not responsible for the expensive system of operation Mr. McAdoo turned over to them—a system which they are not at full liberty to change. The owners of railroad stocks are entitled to a reasonable return on their investment, and the rates are fixed with that end in view. Rates apparently cannot come down until the expenses of operation come down. The Railroad Labor Board found that some kinds of service are being paid for, under the McAdoo rules, without services being rendered. The Board decided that this should not be, but they put off until July 1 the elimination of the present rules which require payment for services not rendered.

A SPOILED CHILD.

Poland, having been given everything demanded by her, and much beside; having enjoyed the support of France to a point which turned French patience into a vice; Poland, the pet of Wilson, is on the rampage again, having gone so far as to fire on allied troops in Upper Silesia. Oh, well! Let's turn our attention to that general tariff revision.

ON THE FARM.

Little reduction in the acreage of tobacco in Mason county is expected this year. Farmers have been very busy during the past several weeks breaking ground and getting it in condition for tobacco setting. Because of the great decrease in price of the weed last fall and winter, it was at that time expected that there would be a material reduction in acreage this year but it now appears that the growers have either forgotten the price decrease or they have determined that they must grow as much as possible to get as much money as possible.

Generally throughout the county there has been little complaint about the plant beds. As is always the case, in some sections, beds have failed and growers will have to depend upon their neighbors or haul their plants from afar.

Because of the lack of freezes during the winter months, the ground has been unusually tough this year and has been very hard to work. Farmers have been compelled to put in more time than usual and much more hard labor to get their ground in anything like condition and much of the land will never be in the condition it should be for planting.

Corn planting is progressing satisfactorily just at this time and there will be a good sized crop of corn planted. If the farmers have the same success with corn this year that they had last, Mason county will produce a great crop of this grain.

More attention is being paid to dairy cows and poultry this spring than ever before in Mason county. Although during the past few months the price for dairy products and eggs have taken quite a decline, the farmers' wives have kept up the good work and a record number of pure bred eggs have been set this year. Mason already has a famous Rhode Island Red flock and this spring promises to more than multiply that flock by ten.

There never has been the number of pure bred dairy herds in Mason county as at present and some of the best Jerseys and Holsteins to be found in Kentucky are now to be found grazing on Mason county farms.

Farmers of Mason county will be called upon to give some of their attention this year to politics but they have pitched a crop that will keep them quite busy and it is predicted that they will pay little attention to politics except on trips to the cross-roads store or to town.

Gardens throughout the county and especially in the suburbs of Maysville are looking good just now and give promise of a big vegetable market in Maysville this year. With the Weather Man's promise that the cold weather is now practically gone, the gardeners will throw themselves into their work in earnest and as they report that plants have grown well this spring, we can expect something to eat from the gardens soon.

Fruit generally was ruined by the cold weather but there will be apples and other fruit which was not hurt by the frosts in goodly quantities.

TOBACCO BEST OF "FOUR SOCIAL POISONS."

London, May 14. — Tobacco is least harmful of the "four social poisons," tea, coffee, tobacco and alcohol, according to Sir James Cantile, the eminent surgeon, speaking here recently. "Smoke the same amount of tobacco every day," said Sir James, "and the heart will become accustomed to a certain amount. If one smokes less one day than another he feels the effect as much as if he had smoked more."

He said three days' abstinence from smoking would entirely free the system of nicotine. Sir James condemned the cigarette.

WORKHOUSE PRISONER IS KILLED IN ROCK BIN.

Louisville, Ky. — James Brooks, 19, a prisoner at the workhouse serving a ten days' sentence for vagrancy, was suffocated when he fell into a bin with crushed rock at the quarry. Richard Handley discovered the accident when he saw one of Brooks' feet extending from the opening through which the rock poured into the wagons. He had sunk through the bin, the rock acting in the same manner as quicksand.

New York. — The world's greatest open-air skating rink is open again. The Park Commissioners and the Mayor and the rest of the people who decide the use of New York's air and space have at last agreed to open the huge Mall in Central Park to the roller skaters. Two thousand skaters can roll at one time across the place. It is one-third of a mile long and fairly wide, and the echoes of the skates reach far up the park these nights.

Gotham has deserted Newport. At least that part of this city which made Newport the fashionable gathering place that it was, has deserted it. Only a few seasons ago, the very word "Newport" meant New York Society and the desirable people from overseas were their guests. This summer nearly fifty of the most pretentious villas will be closed — deserted for Europe, for the mountains, for Long Islands, and even for quiet homes in the Berkshires. The Cornelius Vanderbilt home, the Odgen Goelet place, and the villas of the three Belmonts — August, Perry and Mrs. Oliver — are among the mansions to be empty.

No one could convince Avid Talmadge that New Yorkers are anything but honest. He KNOWS. Avid and his wife got off the subway in such a hurry the other day that he left a big bag on the seat. Tears and lamentations! The next night a small boy walked into the East 128th street police station and turned over "a bag 'a's heavy enough to be full of lead." Early the next day, Avid appeared at the station and told of his loss — the savings of a lifetime. Describe the contents? He should say he could. $250 in cash; $400 in gold — diamond earrings worth $1,500; four gold mesh bags; rings; watches; a diamond bracelet; four bank books, showing deposits of several thousand dollars; and oodles of Russian rubles. He got the bag. And it was all there.

If there is one thing in New York that has been harder to get than an apartment during these past two years, it is a telephone. So precious have they become that the selling of 'phones has become a new industry. The subscriber who has one that he can get along without finds a quick and profitable market, and the classified advertising columns of the newspapers contain such lines as "What am I offered for telephone. Bryant exchange," or "Murray Hill exchange telephone number for sale: $150."

We now have made human traffic towers out of our traffic policemen. The colored lights in the signal towers have been found to work well and the policemen's arms have grown too tired of being semaphores, that the city has put a sort of short white smock on its traffic men and over this hung a signal device with three lights, red, yellow and green, which the officers work with switch buttons. The smocks are to reflect the light and throw it farther.

The youngest actress on Broadway is Eva Casanova, who has just taken an important role in the cast of "The Bad Man." She is not yet eighteen and she is filling the part, too. At the age of ten, she was hailed as a child prodigy, when she wrote and produced her own school play, "True Lovers;" then she dropped out of the limelight — as is very wise in child prodigies — and WORKED. She shows the results of the work as well as the early talent.

Let us hope that Octavio Pinto, an engineer in Sao Paulo, Brazil, is fond of pianos. For Miss Gulomar Novae, the brilliant Brazilian pianist who has been spending the winter here, sailed the other day to meet his mand become his bride; and she took with her on the steamer THREE nice, large, grands.

LOCAL POLITICS.

Politics is beginning to shape itself in Mason county and a great amount of interest is being shown just now especially in the county races. The Democrats are showing that they are going to have a primary election in which there will be quite as much interest as in the big show in November. In fact, some predict that the fight in August, in some of the races, will eclipse anything that might be promised in the final round-up of votes.

The race for the nomination for sheriff seems to have the center of the stage. This office is looked upon as the big money job of the county and it was for this office that the first political announcement of the year was made. The Democrats now have five announced candidates and it would not be surprising to see others toss their hats into this ring before long. The campaign has not gotten far enough under headway to make any predictions or distinctions between these five candidates. They are all favorites among their personal friends and the disinterested voter has not yet reached the place where he can be expected to express his opinion. The one thing that is interesting the candidates and their friends as well as the spectator and the fellow on the other side of the fence is just where the "Organization" will land with its official "O. K." Who the organization may endorse in this race is an interesting thing to think about and there are many thinking.

The race for the Democratic nomination for County Clerk has developed into something worth looking at within the last two weeks. For two or three weeks the Dover candidate had things his own way but this week County Clerk Owens has announced his intention of endeavoring to hold onto the job and Mr. Leslie H. Smoot has served notice on the voters that he is to be a contender. All three candidates are good men and this promises to be a horse race, if all entries were now listed, but it has been whispered that there might be others enter and some have intimated that even the ladies were looking upon this lucrative office with a wistful eye.

The smallest paying office in the county — that of Jailer — seems to be the most attractive as more candidates have announced their intention to seek the Democratic nomination for this office than for any other in the county. About six have already started and there will probably be more. Commissioner Arthur L. Glascock has everything his own way for the County Judge nomination but rumblings on the streets during the week seem to say that he will not come to the pole by himself. It appears that there are at least two other good Democrats who think they would like to be chairman of the Board of Commissioners, try lunacy cases, take the curings of the irate public because of bad roads and see that the kids attend school regularly.

Speaking of Commissioner Glascock reminds us that there promises to be a fight for the office of County Commissioner. It appeared a few months ago that there would not be an applicant for this office but they have started, coming three at a time, and it looks like there will be quite a warm little race for this, the hardest and most thankless job of them all.

Circuit Clerk James B. Key and Mr. Charles Hollstein seem to have a two handed fight for Clerk of the Circuit Court and from what we have thus far heard, it appears they will fight the thing out to the finish. It appears that there is no one else who wants to go after this job which is said to be one of much work and little pay.

George Turnipseed is more than glad that his office is out of politics and that he will not have to get into a scrap this November. He has been re-elected by the County School Board to head the Mason county schools for another four-year term at an increased salary and his selection gave perfect satisfaction to all parties for he is doing the job right and has never permitted politics to enter into the school affairs of the county although originally elected on the Democratic ticket.

Judge C. D. Newell has been too busy in court for the past few weeks to get into his campaign but it does not appear that he will have opposition for re-election and his formal announcement is expected most any day. As a jurist Judge Newell is unexcelled in Kentucky and the people of Mason, Bracken and Fleming counties have confidence in him and his court.

Deputy Sheriff C. M. Devore is the only man to announce on the Republican ticket. Mr. Devore seeks his party's endorsement as candidate for sheriff and his splendid service entitles him to the endorsement he seeks.

In the city race things are looking up but the city campaign is never really considered opened until candidates for Councilman begin to come in. When Councilmen announce, its a sign for the band to begin playing its liveliest tune and the curtains are thrown back on the big show.

Tom Russell and Dr. Samuel have tossed their bonnets into the circle for Mayor and it now looks very much like this pair will be the only ones to qualify in this race. Both have been campaigning for weeks and they have the edge on most any other candidate who might now enter. The last fight was a four handed affair and furnished much more excitement and fun than a two handed game would furnish but then things warm up as they near the last quarter.

Chief Ort, Patty Ryan and Charley Rohmiller want to head the Police Department but then council seems to have thrown quite a bomb into this contest by the announcement that consideration is to be given an ordinance returning the election of Police Chief to the ward representatives. This announcement has sort of cooled this race off for the present.

Bob Adair has opposition for City Clerk in Fred Diener and it may be that there will be others get into this scrap later in the game. The last fight for this office furnished much of the fun in the election. Diener upset the milk bucket when he announced for it had appeared for several weeks that Bob Adair would have no opposition for a re-election.

"Brother Bill" Smith has asked the people of Maysville to promote him from Council to City Treasurer. Bill says he can take care of the money as well as anyone else and he will be greatly pleased to serve the good people of Maysville "thusly." Little birds whisper, however, that Bill is not going to just walk in and take the strong box from "Buddy" January for there are others who would be pleased to serve the dear people and other announcements are expected.

Judge Whitaker has opposition in "Hal" Curran, a most popular young lawyer. Hal came within five of being elected Mayor in 1917 and is a campaigner of old but he is also tackling an old-timer. This race promises to furnish some thrills.

Nobody has gotten into the council fight as yet and until this fight is entered, the city campaign cannot be considered opened in form. Its the race for councilmen that holds the big attention of the voters in the various wards.

Re-arrangement of voting precincts in the city and county will "sorta" break into the old system and political party leaders will have to do some re-organizing before the election. This may cut considerable figure in things election day and it has the leaders guessing.

The fact that women vote this year for the first time in a county and city election has also upset all calculations that have been previously made. Ward leaders cannot figure on the number of votes they can deliver now nor can the candidates figure on the women as rank partisans and count them for the whole ticket no matter what party they are in. It is to be remembered that women may have parties but they will cast their vote for the best men and its our prediction that they will do some tall scratching if it appears necessary to them.

The recent re-organization of the Mason County Democratic Committee took the woman voter into consideration and one of the finest of the younger Democratic women of the city was chosen secretary while a woman was named on the committee from each precinct. The complexion of the committee as a whole was changed little, however, in the re-organization and the old wheel-horses are still in the harness.

At present the county races appear to eclipse the city races in all parts of the city but after August things will be considerably changed. It's the same old game it has always been and nobody's a winner until the day after.

BRITISH BUYERS BOYCOTT OUR BOATS.

Washington, D. C. — "One of the reasons cited by Winthrop L. Marvin for the necessity of reducing wages in the shipping business presents an interesting sidelight on the British attempt to boycott American shipping," says the Republican Publicity Association. "Mr. Marvin is president of the American Steamship Owners' Association, his whole life have been devoted to the study of shipping problems, and he is a recognized authority on the subject. He declares that discrimination against American cargoes by the English is a very serious matter. For example, he asserts that 'spinners and cotton manufacturers of Lancashire have declined to accept cotton from Galveston unless it was carried in British ships and under British insurance. That kind of thing is taking place all the time. We didn't want to cut wages but were driven to it.'

"The United States of America has a long score to settle with British cotton manufacturers. For nearly a century they have conspired in one way or another to injure American industry, particularly the cotton textile industry. The Manchester manufacturers spent hundreds of thousands of dollars backing the Cobden propaganda for free trade, with a view to combatting attempts on our part to protect our cotton mills from their competition. Failing in that, they tried the dumping game, and that was stalled off by protection. This was a warfare of the British mill against the American mill.

"No wit appears that the British cotton manufacturers, and perhaps other industries, are going out of their way to cripple an American industry which does not compete with them, but which does compete with British shipping. This is a matter which Congress should take under advisement. Great Britain has been the leader in the world's shipping trade so long that her merchants appear to think she has established a prescriptive right to the high seas and that any nation that has the effrontery to question that right must be penalized for it. This is one of the most outrageous methods of coercion of which even British business aggression has been guilty.

"Some time ago section 34 of the Jones Merchant Marine Law came to public notice by the refusal of that Anglophile President, Mr. Wilson, to enforce it by the abrogation of certain clauses in our commercial treaties. That section did no more than to authorize the President to give due notice of our intention to terminate clauses which hrestricted the right of the United States to impose discriminating customs duties on imports entering in American vessels—a purely domestic piece of legislation which Mr. Wilson refused to carry out. Immediately Mr. Wilson was backed up by every foreign nation which boasted shipping, and by all the internationalists with which the body politic is infested. Have any of those gentlemen protested at the action of the British cotton spinners and manufacturers? Not at all. Anything that is done in good old England is quite the proper thing, but if we do anything to protect our interests, through legislation openly and decently secured these internationalists call us hard names.

"If the United States should cut off Britain's cotton supply as a retaliatory measure for this boycott of American shipping, there would be such a paralysis in the British cotton industry as they have not known since the Civil War. And if this latest game of British business is persisted in, retaliation in some form is quite within the range of possibilities, for, 'By the eternals,' the merchant marine, as well as the navy, is entitled to its due."

MAYOR GALVIN AGAIN TO HEAD
G. O. P. TICKET IN CINCINNATI.

Cincinnati, Ohio, May 16. — Mayor John Galvin Sunday sent from Atlantic City to the Cincinnati Republican organization his formal acceptance of the invitation tendered him last week by the executive and advisory committee again to head the Republican city ticket this fall.

Mayor Galvin's decision was reached Saturday night after a conference with Froome Morris, chairman of the city general committee, who went to Atlantic City where the mayor is recuperating from illness.

GOV. COX'S DAUGHTER
DIES SUDDENLY.

Dayton, Ohio, May 16. — Mrs. Helen Cox Mahoney, 25, daughter of former Governor James M. Cox, died suddenly at her home in Oakwood early this morning. She had apparently been in good health and her death came without a moment's warning. Her husband, D. J. Mahoney, is general manager of the ex-governor's newspaper in this city. Mrs. Mahoney passed through a serious illness several months ago, but apparently had entirely recovered.

MANCHESTER MAN REFUSES TO RETURN WITHOUT PAPERS

Ernest McHenry Arrested Here Sunday for Manchester, Ohio, Officials Refuses to Cross River.

At the request of Manchester, Ohio, officials, Officer Fred Wells Sunday morning arrested Ernest McHenry, of Manchester, on the local streets on a charge of assaulting with intent to kill. It is charged that McHenry made an attack on the Marshal of Manchester a few days ago from which that officer is now in a critical condition and may die.

McHenry was picked up at the corner of Second and Market streets and the Sheriff of Adams county was here to return him to Manchester if he would waive his right to a state warrant. McHenry refused to return to Ohio without the necessary papers and was locked up in the local jail where he will be held for fifteen days pending the receipt of the papers. The Adams county sheriff left immediately to have necessary petition drawn up which he will deliver to the Governor of Ohio asking that Governor Morrow be asked to recognize a state warrant. McHenry has figured in several escapades about Manchester and recently had considerable troubles with his wife, from whom he is now divorced, it appearing that she had a living and undivided husband when he married her.

MILFORD MILLS BURN.

Milford awoke Sunday morning to view a fire at Clark's Flour Mill, whose flames reached toward the heavens and rivalled the aurora borealis in brilliancy and scenic effect. The fire alarm roused the 1,200 inhabitants from sleep at 11:45 p. m., and from that time until 3:30 a. m. no one slept in Milford.

An explosion, believed to have been caused by a leak in an ammonia pipe, is believed to have caused the fire on Camp Dennison road, just a few hundred feet north of the Hamilton county side of the bridge that crosses the Little Miami River. There riotous flames leaped from the roof of the wooden mill and illuminated the country-side for miles.

ROOSTERS TO BE EX- ECUTED NEXT WEEK

State Department Calls On All Poultry Raisers To Get Rid of Their Males During "Rooster Week."

Lexington, Ky., May 16. Roosters are to have a special price placed on their heads during "Rooster Week," May 23 to 28, according to J. Holmes Martin, in charge of the poultry work of the College of Agriculture, who today announced that a number of produce houses in the state have agreed to cooperate in exterminating roosters during the summer months by offering a two to three-cent premium per pound on those marketed during that week.

The State Board of Health has also agreed to cooperate in the campaign and will distribute circulars on the care and handling of eggs in addition to seeing that all state rules in regard to the candling of eggs are enforced. Roosters running in the poultry flock during the summer months cause farmers heavy losses each year, poultry specialists state, by producing fertile eggs which spoil rapidly during warm weather and are discriminated against on the market. The object of "Rooster Week" is to show farmers the need for killing, confining or selling all male birds during the warm months. While the campaign is expected to reach its height during the week of May 23 to 28 many roosters are expected to make their final crow during the weeks before and after that time.

More than twenty of the largest poultry dealers in the state have signified their intentions of cooperating in the campaign for the production of infertile eggs and it is expected that practically all produce houses in Kentucky will take part in the project.

Fred Dresel, proprietor tailor shop, 1238 East Second street, Maysville, says: "I am glad of the opportunity to recommend Doan's Kidney Pills. I was troubled with inflammation of the bladder and annoyance from my kidneys. When passing the secretions they burned terribly and often bordered on a stoppage. I had severe aching pains across the small of my back which greatly interfered with my duties. I was telling a friend how my kidneys acted and he advised me to get a box of Doan's Kidney Pills at Wood & Son's Drug Store. I began taking Doan's and they gave me prompt relief. Doan's did me lots of good and I know they are an excellent remedy."

Mr. Dresel gave the above statement February 6, 1908, and on November 22, 1920, he added: "I think just as highly of Doan's Kidney Pills today as I did when I gave my former recommendation many years ago. My cure has been a lasting one."

Miss Sarah Vance, director of the board's Bureau of Pure Foods and Drugs, issued the announcement. In it she stated that her bureau intends to take a more active part than ever before in seeing that this rule is enforced and that all violations of the statute will be prosecuted.

The regulation provides, according to Miss Vance, that before any country storekeeper can buy eggs from a farmer they must be candled. Similarly, where poultry and egg dealers buy eggs from country storekeepers the eggs likewise must be candled. Selling of eggs by hucksters before they have been candled is prohibited. When eggs are packed in cases, on the top of each case must be placed a certificate on the form prescribed by the State Board of Health, that the eggs have been candled.

Prosecutions for shipping bad eggs to Indiana already have been instituted in the Federal Courts, Miss Vance pointed out. Robert Haddock of Henshaw and Thomas E. Ellis, of Rumsey, having been fined $75 and $40, respectively, by Judge Evans at Owensboro on May 2.

It is estimated that American business men and farmers will pay over $500,000,000 for motor trucks this year.
